Dan Goodwill and Associates and Schneider Logistics Plan Transportation Consulting Services Alliance

Services Offered Will Optimize Transportation Spend Management for North American Shippers

GREEN BAY, Wis. — June 26, 2007 — Dan Goodwill and Associates Inc., a Canadian-based transportation consulting firm, and Schneider Logistics Inc., a leading international logistics provider and part of the Schneider National enterprise, has formed a strategic alliance to provide transportation advisory services to shippers throughout North America.

Services offered include: benchmark and market intelligence, mode and carrier selection, transportation audits, identification and implementation of best practices in freight transportation, freight rate bidding solutions, route/rate management, freight payment/audit, claims management, analytics and supply chain engineering.

“We look forward to our relationship with Dan Goodwill and Associates,” says Esteban Luengo, general manager, Schneider Logistics. “Through technology, engineering, analytics and our combined industry expertise, we help shippers turn data into meaningful information to get maximum value for their transportation spend. Together we can offer more value and reach a broader customer base.”

Dan Goodwill, president of Dan Goodwill and Associates, states, “I am very excited about working with Schneider Logistics. Schneider has an exceptional team of logistics professionals and has developed some excellent freight analysis tools. Working together we will provide leading edge transportation solutions to shippers in Canada, the United States and Mexico.”
